

Dr. David Ting-Wei Ku

David is a senior intensivist at Monash Health and St John of God in Melbourne, Australia. With an interest in peri-operative care, data driven quality improvement, innovative education and translating research into practice, he has travelled internationally to learn modern strategies that enhance long term, functional outcomes for the critically ill. He currently serves as the Chair of International relations for the Australian and New Zealand Intensive Care Society (ANZICS), and is one of the Visual Abstract editors for Critical Care Medicine (CCM).